Astara Angels is a registered charity raising funds to build an Orphanage for the protection and education of abandoned Indian girls.

Our first fund raising event, "Colour For India", is an Indian-inspired gala dinner to be held at the Stamford Plaza Hotel in Double Bay on Friday, 17th February, 2006.

Astara Angels is committed to helping eliminate child poverty and abuse in India. Our mission is to help create lives – not just save them.

The charity was inspired by personal experience with an orphanage in Rishikesh, India, which provides food, clothing and shelter along with education and essential life skills for young boys.

Unfortunately, the same opportunities are not yet available for girls.

Our goal is to raise US$200,000 for the construction of a home that will not only keep young Indian girls fed and off the streets, but give them the education and necessary resources to succeed in society.

Annual fund raising events will continue to raise the further US$500 per annum, per little girl, required to sustain the project.

We invite you to join us...
